Has your Governor Issued a Proclamation Honoring Ronald Reagan on Feb 6?

Twenty-six governors thus far have issued proclamations honoring Reagan on his 100th birthday

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Every year the Ronald Reagan Legacy Project asks governors from all 50 states to make proclamations honoring Reagan on his birthday. This February 6, Reagan would have turned 100. The Ronald Reagan Legacy Project proudly commends the governors -- Republicans and Democrats alike -- who have recognized February 6 in their states. Thus far, 26 out of 50 governors have issued proclamations.

“I urge every governor to issue a proclamation declaring ‘Ronald Reagan Day’ in their state,” said Grover Norquist, chairman of the RRLP. “For those states currently without a proclamation, citizens are encouraged to contact their Governor.”
